Transition from student to professional

We’ve dedicated a lot of time to HSA & Co’s future, thinking about the direction in which we want to move our business and the individual skills which we need to get us there.

Our training programme has been designed to create highly skilled professionals of the future, who are not only technically excellent, but who understand and support our vision and services inside and out.

We firmly believe that excellence comes from creating our own professionals from the start and we have tailored our programme to uphold this.

Our approach to training differs from other smaller-sized firms, in that we aim to provide our trainees with an all-round accountancy experience.

A little bit of sacrifice and the return...

Gaining your professional qualification while working full-time is not easy. You will be committing yourself to a number of years of college and exams and you’ll be on a very steep learning curve.

We’ll support you in every way possible – covering the full costs of your training and allowing you the time out to attend college. In consideration of this, you’ll need to attend every class and put in the hours of self-study required to get you through.

You will gain enviable qualifications which will open the door to many opportunities. You will also be rewarded with a competitive salary from day one.
